

Lily Cohen, College of Marin, estar400, estar400@gmail.com

With the knowledge of the change my generation could do with voting, I would create a blog to entice people my age and get them involved in local activities through my internet outreach and advertising. I would love to do a blog that helped get people involved in their local politics and getting others to vote. I think connecting people to travel, culture, the environment, and things they can do locally.

The video I made is connected to this link. I hope that it would persuade some people to vote.
https://youtu.be/f_y4vT4lvqs