

Project Green Challenge Greenest

Cvetanka Rizvanovic, Cveta281, Cveta281@yahoo.com, Highland High School

My DIY Cleaner

- I decided to make my own natural scouring powder! I've made this in the past, so I just used the same recipe.
- Once I used it to clean my bathroom sink, I noticed that it did a great job at removing any grime, as well as deodorizing the entire space! It worked equally as good, if not better than store bought products, but without the unnecessary chemicals, and toxins.
- I also noticed that the small buds of lavender helped to scent the area, and made it smell lovely! I used a repurposed spice container to hold the product, and so that way it isn't creating any waste, and isn't harming the environment or my health.

DIY Scouring Powder Recipe

- Lavender sprigs
- Baking Soda
- Essential Oils
- Salt

Instagram Post

for day 21 of the Project Green Challenge, I'm participating in.

Cleaning with green products is important to human and environmental health because of all the carcinogenic chemicals that are in conventional cleaning products, which you want to avoid.

These cleaning products also affect the environment negatively because the remaining toxic chemicals pollute our water and air.

Basic Recipe:

Lavender

Baking Soda

Essential Oils

Salt

#PGC2018

#GreenClean

#zerowaste

@turninggreenorg

@environmentalworkinggroup

