

DAY 27, GREENER

Ripple

Instigating a change is not difficult, once your vision is clear. Beholding the positive, aspiring for growth, and believing in self helps in transforming the stone into statue. The art of chiselling the problems into solutions is what we seek to learn and somewhere all individuals possess this innate talent, just a little exploring is required.

PGC gave this opportunity to us and we were more than glad to pass it on to our acquaintances. Everybody we know had a different perspective on how to achieve the state where growth and development prevails at nobody's cost.

Priya believed that educating young children about various subjects which are necessary to be learnt is of utmost significance and took a step towards the same. She believed that these children are the future of our world and they are the ones who will be responsible for correcting the mistakes and thence shaping the world into a place where peace and equality is omnipresent.

The precarious situation of hunger which is widespread in our planet seemed to be the prior concern to Vivek who began his journey in order to eradicate the respective problem. He took an initiative with many others to conduct a food drive for people who starve everyday just because of their incapability to feed themselves. The food that generally goes to waste due to its abundance in restaurants was incredibly utilized for the Noble cause.

Siddhi believed that the privileged people who often throw away their clothes which are in good quality just because they get bored with them can be donated to the underprivileged, thus implementing the concept of reduce beautifully.

And inciting these changes within hundreds of others by a couple of us is a prominent step towards rejuvenating the planet and all its resources. And, we the members of Holocoen sincerely are grateful to PGC for providing thousands of people directly and indirectly with this golden opportunity.
